Homegrown Scottish hardwood has a warm natural beauty that is inspirational...

It is used in furniture making and in handicrafts – for toys, door knobs, rolling pins, salad bowls etc. It’s also used to make beautiful bespoke kitchens, mantels, stairs, wooden floors, doors, and other interior joinery work.

You can find out more about each hardwood species in Timber Info and see examples of bespoke furniture and kitchens in Successes with Scottish Hardwoods.

If you are looking for Scottish hardwood furniture or would like bespoke work with Scottish hardwood in your home, look at the Products that you are interested in. There you will find links to ASHS members who supply what you’re looking for. You can also send enquiries that will be circulated to all ASHS members through Contact Us.
